DETAILED ACTION

Examiner's Amendment

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.
2. Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given by telephone conversations with and an email message received from John G. Rauch, Esq., on 21 January 2009.
3. The application has been amended as follows:

Amend specification as indicated in the attached Examiner's Amendment dated 31 January 2009.

Amend the claims as indicated in the attached Examiner's Amendment dated 31 January 2009.¹

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-4, 7-9, 11, 13-15 and 18-24 are allowed.
5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the closest prior art, Miller, does not teach or suggest the five steps for determining demand (extrapolating a demand curve data point) of every independent claim 1, 7, 14, 19 and 24.
6. The five-step allowable feature is simple data accounting and curve extrapolation, illustrated by Fig. 7-11 and explained by para. [0044]-[0052] in the published spec. Its objective is to maximize ad revenue (para. [0003]) by restricting demand (limiting the quantity of lower price ad impressions, para. [0026]) when prices are fixed (the "cpm", cost per thousand ad impressions, parameter of the Fig. 6 curves). Miller does not teach extrapolating demand curves. Fox teaches an inventory management method which does entail demand curve extrapolation (col. 10 lines 22-34). However, because Miller's objective is optimization (minimizing CPP for a given budget, col. 2 lines 34-35 and col. 1 line 65 to col. 2 line 8) for given inventory and prices, there is no need to extrapolate demand, and therefore no motivation to add the teachings of Fox to those of Miller.

7. The closest non-patent prior art is Desiraju et al., which neither teaches nor suggests the five steps identified in para. 6 above.
8. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Donald L. Champagne whose telephone number is 571-272-6717. The examiner can normally be reached from 8 AM to 6 PM on Monday and afternoons on Wednesday through Friday. The examiner can also be contacted by e-mail at donald.champagne@uspto.gov, and informal fax communications (i.e., communications not to be made of record) may be sent directly to the examiner at 571-273-6717.
10. The examiner's supervisor, James W. Myhre, can be reached on 571-272-6722. The fax phone number for all formal fax communications is 571-273-8300.
